Lillian wants to be a neurologist

David B. Rosenfield, MD

"I wish I could be a neurologist," a crayon painting by Lillian Rosenfield, is Lillian's response to her kindergarten teacher's request (December 2005; Shlenker School, Houston) for students to create a painting describing their primary wish. Lillian's father, David B. Rosenfield, MD, a neurologist at The Methodist Hospital Neurological Institute and professor at Weill Medical College of Cornell University, was surprised that his 5-year-old daughter aspired to his profession. A picture of the artist and an interview conducted by her older brother, Dylan, are available online.
