Electronics and Smoking Cessation

There is a cigarette in your sock, sir, hidden for a better time.
I only found it because the Train of Four doesn't transmit well through cotton.
I need to sound the depths we plunge, so you can't strain against the Mayfield pins as the neurosurgeon rips into the tumor's circuitry.
But I will save this lonely unlit Camel in the blue cup carrying your dentures.
And when you resurface,
and if you can still use your hand,
and if you can find your mouth, maybe I will strike the match to celebrate your rewiring.
