Correspondence

Dr. Park

A neurosurgeon told
A grandma 80 years old
“Lumbar four slash five Anterolisthesis, first grade”

Little did he know
How little reached the mind
For soft like silk he spoke
With words as long her elbow

Little did he know
How little reached the heart
“Not to bend and not to sweep”
For she alone could bend and sweep

Little did he feel
The fears of reliance unspoken
The tears of pain persevered
The way she would feel

Little did I know
How little I knew
How little I thought
When how little I felt
